A Taste of Future Success

On Wednesday, our students spent the day at MV16, an outstanding post-16 centre in Melton Mowbray. In a 'Futures Day' that was partly planned by Year 12s at MV16, Suthers students got a taste of what it's like to be a sixth former, heard about possible pathways to success and sampled some A Level subjects. From uncovering the anatomy of attention and the Stroop Effect in Psychology, taking to the stage in Theatre Studies and creating their own ponchos in Business Studies, Suthers students got a real insight into what is possible at Key Stage 5—and where those subjects could lead. And so as we look forward to our Technology Day at NUASt in a couple of weeks, students are already thinking about a future far beyond Key Stage 3.

Award-winning Author Set to Visit Suthers

We are looking forward to welcoming Paula Rawsthorne, award-winning author of a range of Young Adult books, including Shell a book which has been described as a tense psychological thriller and promises to be a great read. Paula will share extracts and talk to students about what it takes to be an author on Thursday 19 July.
